Henpecked man tied to chair and beaten with dead chicken, say cops

FULTON, Ky. — A 31-year-old man involved in a fight with his girlfriend told police the woman tied him to a chair and beat him up — with a dead chicken!

The henpecked guy got a black eye from the fowl play that broke out when the two got into an argument and started trading blows.

"The male subject kicked his way through her door and into her house," said Detective Terry Powell of the Fulton Police Department. "The officers found bruises on the female where he had assaulted her.

"The man was arrested for assault in the fourth degree and the officers noticed he had a black eye. They asked him how he got it and he said he'd been tied to a chair and beat with a chicken."

The detective said because of confidentially laws protecting the victims of domestic violence, he could not identify the man — or the woman who gave him the bird. He was also unable to offer more details about the incident.

"We don't know what they were doing that he wound up sitting there tied to a chair," Det. Powell said. "And we don't know how it happened that she used the chicken on him. Maybe they were using drugs or something, or maybe it was some kind of kinky foreplay.

"And everyone wants to know if the chicken was fresh or frozen. We don't know that, either."

The police reported that the couple were drinking a bit before the flap. The girlfriend told police the suspect began punching her in the face — a low-down deed that would ruffle the feathers of

By SUSAN JIMSON / Staff writer

MAMANGUAPE, Brazil — Fascinated scientists announced the discovery of a tribe of Brazilian Indians with a bizarre genetic disorder — a mysterious malady that causes them to wrinkle like oldsters from the moment they are born!

The small group of men, women and children look ancient even as babies, with slack, hanging skin that is wrinkled like a prune.

'Smooth skin is ugly!'
— says tribeswoman

"Before we found the Kuwei tribe we had seen rare, isolated cases of this condition, which is called Lax Cutis syndrome," said Dr. Eduardo Romao, head of a health outreach program in Mamanguape.

"But we've never seen it in an entire group like this. These people are apparently passing the bizarre condition along to their children when they intermarry."

A typical member of the tribe, 33-year-old Maria Jose Santos looks like a wrinkled old codger — and, incredibly, so does her baby son! The tiny tyke, 1-year-old Flaviano, is a toothless, diapered duffer and he's going to look like an old man all his life. But his mom says he's no different from any other baby in her village and she's proud to have such a happy, healthy boy.

KUWEI tribe members pose for a photograph. When a baby is born with smooth skin they put the child up for adoption.

Doctors say there is no cure for Lax Cutis, which can also cause abnormalities of the lungs and heart. But most of the 133 members of the tribe say they feel fine and aren't interested in "curing" their condition. They don't mind a bit how they look — because they look just like everybody else in their village.

In fact, the Kuwei believe that their wrinkled appearance is more beautiful than ordinary firm, smooth skin. They actually feel that the most aged looking codgers in the group are the best looking.

"We see people from other villages and they look strange to us," Maria says. "We feel sorry for them. To us it is ugly to have a smooth, featureless complexion with no interesting sags and bags. To us, having firm skin is a deformity. Every now and then a baby with unwrinkled skin is born to someone in our tribe and we feel really bad about it. We usually send it away and let someone from a smooth-skinned tribe adopt it."

Dr. Romao says a team of medical specialists is planning to study the tribe later this year.

"We want to understand exactly what causes the condition," he said. "Even if the Kuwei aren't interested in a cure for the syndrome, there are other poor victims around the world who are desperate to have a normal appearance."

First Lady caught with toilet paper stuck to her shoe

First Lady Hillary Clinton has been keeping a low profile lately — and she probably wishes she'd stayed home last week when this humiliating photo was taken. The First Lady was unaware she was trailing two feet of toilet paper on the heel of her left shoe as she strolled through a Washington, D.C., museum with an unidentified diplomat. The tourists to the left obviously spotted the embarrassing streamer, but Hillary was oblivious of her blooper until a Secret Service agent tactfully called the offending tissue to her attention and helped remove it.

NEW STUDY REVEALS:

Vacations are BAD for you!

NEWS INTERNATIONAL

Vacations are supposed to help you relax — but often they cause more stress than they relieve, says a new study.

"It is widely believed that workers need vacations and that vacations are good for them," says psychologist Dr. Cary Cooper.

"But my research shows that many people feel that their vacation caused them stress and they still needed a rest when they got back home."

Here are the reasons why vacations can be very stressful, according to Dr. Cooper:

● The vacation is too much of a compromise.

Many vacationers are meeting other people's needs and not their own. They pick a destination for their families, not themselves.

● The vacation throws the family together in a way that triggers tension.

"Although it may sound odd, most of us aren't used to relating to each other that intensely," explained Dr. Cooper, an internationally recognized expert.

"Families typically get together only in the evenings or on weekends — and even then they have lots of chores to distract them."

● Some vacations just get off to the wrong start because everyone gets exhausted making arrangements.

It takes days to unwind — then they begin worrying about preparations for the return trip.

● The journey itself can be extremely stressful — especially for people who are traveling with young children.

It often involves sitting in a cramped car for long periods of time, and driving for days without sufficient rest.

Vacations can also be stressful for people without families. For example:

● A vacation is a break in a comfortable routine.

"Many of us thrive on routine and find life difficult without the stability and security it gives us," said Dr. Cooper.

● For people who hold key positions or important jobs, a vacation can create a feeling of being a "nobody" — being crowded into a plane or bus with all types of people.

● Many people worry so much about their homes — about their pets, plants or the possibility of being burglarized — that they just can't relax and enjoy their vacations.

The solution to these problems, Dr. Cooper said, is careful planning well in advance of the vacation. He added:

"Try to choose a vacation that causes the minimum amount of stress and hassle for everyone."

Tiny terror turns tables on 75-lb. dog — & bites the hell out of him!

TOUGH Billy the kid made mincemeat out of his pet pooch.

BRUTAL Billy Jarette looks over his bandaged Labrador retriever Blackie.

By MARSHA TRAYNOR / Correspondent

ATLANTA — A cute little boy named Billy turned the tables on the Labrador retriever that snatched his lollipop — and tried to chew the dog to pieces!

By the time the tot's mother realized what was going on and pulled the boy off, the whining pooch was bleeding from wounds on his ear, head and back.

"I've never seen anything like it," said Billy's mother, Debbie Jarette, 22.

"Billy's only got his baby teeth but he was going at Blackie — that's our dog — like a sewing machine.

"At first I thought Blackie was chewing Billy up but it was the other way around. Blackie didn't need stitches or anything like that. But he was bleeding from 12 big bites on his head, neck and back. I didn't know what to do first: Take Billy to the doctor for a checkup or get Blackie to the vet. Thank goodness my sister was visiting. She took Blackie and I took Billy. I was frantic about both of them."

MOM Debbie Jarette.

The bizarre drama unfolded while Mrs. Jarette and her sister were sitting at her kitchen table, chatting over coffee. Billy and Blackie were playing in the den. Mrs. Jarette said the 19-month-old boy was slurping on a lollipop. And even though she wasn't in the room, she assumes the dog grabbed it, infuriating the child.

"Blackie's bad about grabbing food from Billy so I'm pretty sure that's what happened," explained the woman.

"All I really know for sure is that Billy was on Blackie like a bad suit. I shudder to think what would have happened if I hadn't been there to pull him off. Sooner or later, Blackie would have fought back. And Blackie's no wimp — he weighs 75 pounds."

Billy's doctor gave the boy a clean bill of health. Blackie's vet prescribed an infection-fighting cream for the dog's wounds.

Billy insisted on covering the worst of them with adhesive bandages, Mrs. Jarette said.

"Blackie's been handling Billy with kid gloves ever since the attack," she added.

"When it comes to stealing food in the future, I don't think Billy's going to be his target."

There are 13 birth signs — instead of 12, says top astrologer

The zodiac is out of whack!

By SUSAN JIMISON / Staff writer

LONDON — There has been a starburst of confusion in the world of astrology since last month when a top astronomer announced that the zodiac doesn't have 12 signs at all — it has 13!

Dr. Jacqueline Mitton of the Royal Astronomical Society says the new sign of the zodiac, called Ophiuchus (OFF-ER-UK-US), governs the fate of people born between November 30 and December 17. Its symbol is the Serpent Slayer, a man with a coiled snake.

The British astronomer says the signs of the zodiac were delineated thousands of years ago to reflect the position of the stars at various times of the year. Over the centuries, the Earth's axis has shifted, but the zodiac calendar has remained the same — which means the zodiac is now off by one entire constellation.

"If you look at where the sun was when you were born, you'll find it was in a different constellation from the one the astrologers say," Dr. Mitton says. "The constellation Ophiuchus didn't appear at all, because the sun didn't pass through it when the 12 signs of the zodiac were defined."

The astronomer says many people actually fall under signs different from the one they previously had. She says the signs actually vary greatly and should be arranged as follows:

Aquarius, February 16 to March 11; Pisces, March 12 to April 18; Aries, April 19 to May 13; Taurus, May 14 to June 20; Gemini, June 21 to July 19; Cancer, July 20 to August 9; Leo, August 10 to September 15; Virgo, September 16 to October 30; Libra, October 31 to November 22; Scorpio, November 23 to November 29; Ophiuchus, November 30 to December 17; Sagittarius, December 18 to January 18; Capricorn, January 19 to February 15.

"Labels don't make any difference," consoles Dr. Mitton, who admits she was surprised by the furor caused by her new findings. "Either the old signs fit people or they didn't.

"Maybe they'll feel at home in their new signs now. Person-

POT BELLY?

If you want to flatten your stomach and trim your waist, you should know about a new book, 3 Simple Steps to Flatten Your Belly! The book shows you a simple and fast way to give yourself a flat, firm stomach—even if other attempts to lose your pot belly failed.

Why It's So Hard to Get Rid of a Pot Belly

Incredibly, some stomach programs only make your pot belly worse. You see, some stomach programs may actually build up and swell the muscles in your stomach without removing the fat—making your stomach appear larger and puffier. What's more, exercises that work on your "love handles" (the sides of your waist) can actually build muscle and increase the overall size of your waist. Even worse, some so-called stomach exercises don't even work your stomach—they can merely strain your back and neck.

Why This Program Will Flatten Your Belly

This book shows you a simple program that won't bulge out or puff up your stomach but actually flattens it out, so your stomach becomes slimmer, trimmer and firmer. And this program is designed to flatten your stomach without straining your back or neck. What's more, this program shows you how to remove layers of fat around your belly. The book tells you about "fat melting" foods that work in conjunction with the exercise program to break down and flush away pockets of flab and fat around your midsection. This program launches an all-out attack on the bulging fat cells around your waistline.

Following this program should transform your pot belly from unsightly flab to a flat, trim and sexy waistline. A firm, flat belly makes you look and feel better. Your posture often improves while nagging back problems often disappear.

Forget about expensive exercise equipment, health spas and starvation diets. This belly-flattening program must work for you or you pay nothing. This book is being made available for only $12.95 (plus $3 postage and handling). To order, send name and address with payment to United Research Publishers, 103 North Highway 101, Dept. WF-09, Encinitas, CA 92024. You may return the book

NEW WAVE OPENS

WASHINGTON — Devastating earthquakes in North America, South America, Africa and Asia have thrown open the Gates of Hell, freeing thousands of demons whose evil purpose is to bring misery and despair to all mankind!

That's the word from highly placed Washington insiders who say that a "gravely concerned" President Bill Clinton has privately called on scientists, clergymen and Bible scholars to figure out what, if anything, can be done to protect mankind from the fulfillment of Bible prophecies that foretold disastrous earthquakes — and the rise of Satan — in the days leading up to the end of the world.

28 DIE IN COLOMBIA QUAKE

Huge aftershocks rock capital city

"This is a terrifying development in the evolution of evil in the world," declared John Paulet, former CIA operative and author of the important new book, Evil Intent — Satan's Strategy For The End Times.

"The Devil himself is leading this army of demons and his quest, which is stated so clearly in the Bible, is nothing less than the devastation and domination of all mankind.

"From a religious standpoint, humans, as individuals, should try to get right with God in a hurry. From a political standpoint, world leaders must assess the situation and determine what we can do to address the threat posed by demonic entities running wild in the world." President Clinton has yet to address the situation in public and it doesn't seem likely that he will break the silence anytime soon.

AUTHOR John Paulet.

White House sources have been equally tight-lipped, although several insiders have confirmed that the President has requested daily updates on demonic activity around the world.

To that end, the Central Intelligence Agency has assigned 62 agents in 23 countries to a special "demon task force." Operation Stop Lucifer, as the initiative is called, has been funded with a staggering $75 million budget.

It is specifically charged with "gathering information on Satan's demonic army," a highly placed intelligence source confirmed.

"Demons were first sighted as they emerged from a crack in the Golden State Freeway during the Los Angeles earthquake in 1994," continued the source.

"At the time, we were hoping against hope that we were dealing with an isolated incident. But earthquakes have been occurring worldwide at an unprecedented rate. And in each instance, we have reliable and independent reports of demons emerging from cracks in the Earth.

"To unbelievers and cynics, this might sound like a ploy to bring people back into the fold of organized religion. In fact, demons are flooding the Earth. Call it whatever you like," he added. "Whatever is happening is real — and I, for one, don't mind saying that it scares the hell out of me."

According to what the source terms "conservative estimates," as many as 2,400 demons have been spotted in the vicinity of earthquakes that have occurred in Los Angeles, Seattle, Bogota, Colombia, Kobe, Japan, New Zealand and Indonesia in the past 12 months alone. With geologists predicting more frequent and even more devastating earthquakes in months to come, the source believes Satan's army will grow rapidly as we approach what many believe will be the final showdown between good and evil in the GENERAL Douglas MacArthur.

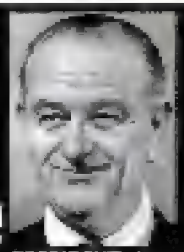
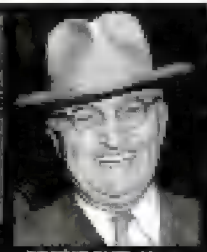
Our greatest leaders were Mama's boys



PRESIDENT Lyndon Johnson.



PRESIDENT Harry S Truman.

PRESIDENT Franklin D. Roosevelt.

By PAT WELLS / Correspondent

Many of America's greatest leaders, including Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S Truman, Douglas MacArthur and Lyndon Johnson, achieved their phenomenal success because they were "Mama's boys," reports a top psychologist.

. . . says expert

"The majority of our most celebrated historic figures, both past and present, adored their mothers and were adored in return," said Dr. Sam Janus.

He studied the lives of 150 world-renowned government and business figures and personally interviewed more than 200 leading businessmen and politicians.

"It absolutely knocked me out to discover that four out of five of the successful men I studied were Mama's boys — and that includes such renowned figures as former Presidents Franklin Roosevelt, Harry S Truman and Lyndon Johnson."

What makes Mama's boys so successful?

"They are strongly motivated," Dr. Janus said. "Petted and pampered, they love their mothers so much and are so hungry for approval, they'll do anything to make their moms proud of them.

"They devote their lives to reaching the pinnacle of success and power, not for their own satisfaction, but to 'please Mama.' They can't let their moms down — and will strive and struggle to be the superachievers these adored women expected them to be.

"Equally important, a Mama's boy is unusually self-confident. He has been raised to believe he is destined to achieve greatness. As a result, he develops a 'can't lose' attitude that helps him overcome obstacles and setbacks that would derail others."

Here are a few examples of ways famous Mama's boys were influenced by their mothers.

- Gen. Douglas MacArthur's doting mother accompanied him to West Point and stayed in a nearby hotel for four years just to watch over him. She tutored him in history and gave him pep talks.
- FDR's mother also made him the center of her life and when he went to Harvard she followed, staying at an apartment in Boston.
- As a boy, Harry S Truman was very close to his mother, always helping her in the kitchen. She picked the books he read and gave him his first piano lessons. When he became President, he called or wrote his mother regularly.
- In the eighth grade, Lyndon Johnson chose for a school recitation a poem titled I'd Rather Be a Mama's Boy, and in later years admitted

FORT SMITH, Ark. — A dopey dope dealer called a wrong number and said, "I've got your dope over here. Call me," then left his phone number — on a policeman's answering machine, cops say!

Based on the phone message to the home of Officer James Hammond, police raided the home of Gary French and arrested him and seven other suspects on drug charges involving methamphetamines and marijuana.

Hammond even identifies himself as a cop in his recorded message, but the dumbbell drug pusher left the incriminating message anyway, authorities allege.

New look has her critics barking . . .

PRINCESS DI IS A DOG

SUPERMODEL wannabe Princess Di shocked the fashion world with her wet look.

. . . say British royal-watchers

Princess Diana's new slicked-back hairdo is a fashion disaster, say critics — it shows off her big nose, small mouth and flat face!

"Diana has tried the supermodel look without having the figure or the face," says Lady Colin Campbell, author of Diana in Private.

"Her nose is too big, her mouth too small and her face too flat. It was a bad mistake and showed her lack of bone structure.

"It's not the look of a Princess, it's not even the look of a lady."

Royal expert Margaret Holder was shocked by Di's "masculine and hard" look, and didn't like it at all.

"You need an absolutely perfect profile for a style as severe as that," says Holder. "And with the best will in the world, Diana's nose is anything but perfect."

Another royal-watcher thought that the new look was all wet. "People were saying, 'What's happened?' " says socialite Penny Crose. "It looks like she just got out of the shower."

Which is where Di got the idea for the look in the first place, says a top hairdresser. "Diana was photographed soaked to the skin after the Pavarotti concert a few years back," says the stylist. "All she had done was slick her hands through her dripping hair, making it totally flat against her head."

"But I abused my power, lost my self-respect and sense of values, became a drug addict. I was a pile of crap, and wouldn't be there for myself.

These 3 young stars have no future in showbiz, say top Hollywood psychics

What do Macaulay Culkin, Juliette Lewis and Drew Barrymore have in common? Not much of a future in films, say three top Tinseltown psychics who were asked to "read" the vibes off snapshots of the young stars.

Home Alone star Culkin appears headed for the most drastic fall.

"I see tragedy for this young man," says a psychic from the Vision Network of Professional Psychics. "He'll make no movies after he's 15, and will become a Howard Hughes-like recluse." Madame Laura sees a furry future for Mac. "He must be very careful with his money," she says. "I see animals in his future — maybe he'll buy a zoo, or end up working in one." But Madame Tina had the worst feeling of all for Culkin. "I'm not picking up any vibes from this place, like he's not human, like he's a puppet or something," she says.

Natural Born Killers star Juliette Lewis drew boos from the psychics, too. "Definitely no Oscar in her future," says the Vision Network psychic. "She'd better make wiser choices," says the Vision Network psychic. "She may give up showbiz to raise five kids in Montana."

LEFT TO RIGHT: Juliette Lewis, Macaulay Culkin and Drew Barrymore will all be working with animals.

Madame Tina sees Drew as "brilliant but unhappy. She'll star in movies no one wants to see till she burns out."

Madame Laura sees Drew as a senior citizen surrounded by cats.

"Drew will tire of making films and may take up flying, a loner in her old age, with many cats."

GIRL CRUSHED TO DEATH BY GIANT SNOWMAN

By GEORGE PIKE
Correspondent

COPENHAGEN, Denmark — In a heartbreaking end to a joyful day of playing in the snow, a 6-year-old girl was crushed to death by a giant snowman!

"She and four boys had spent all day building the enormous snowman and they were putting on the finishing touches when it fell over on the victim," said investigating police officer Bjorn Harsteed.

"Her playmates tried to dig her out from under the snow but by the time they got her free it was too late."

The victim was identified as Anna Engberg of Skovsted, a tiny town about 350 miles northwest of Copenhagen. The boys narrowly escaped being crushed by the snowman.

"According to what they said, the snowman tipped over and they all tried to dive out of the way," Harsteed said.

"They were all hit by the snow but Anna was the only one who was completely covered."

Harsteed said the children had mixed the snow with water and packed it very tight, making it as hard as a rock. They used a ladder to erect the towering, 30-foot snowman.

"It must have been felt like a ton of bricks when the top section crashed down on that little girl," Harsteed said.

When the boys finally freed Anna they carried her to the house of a neighbor, who rushed her to the hospital. Emergency-room doctors declared the girl dead on arrival with a crushed chest.

The whole town of Skovsted mourned the awful tragedy.

"Children in Denmark take great pride in their ability to build snowmen," one resident said. "For one of our youngsters to die this way is heartbreaking for all of us."

HOW TO SHUT UP THOSE JERKS AT WORK!

LOS ANGELES — You don't have to put up with co-workers who irritate you, an expert says — because if you know how to handle them, you can change their behavior!

Here are tips offered by Judith Segal, a management training consultant who advises companies all over the country:

● The Glory Hog: This guy wants to take credit for everybody else's work. Confront him, saying something like, "You must have been really busy and not noticed my name was not on this project." Ask how he plans to rectify the problem. To head him off in the future, schedule an appointment to discuss projects with the boss so he knows who's doing the work.

● The Loafer: Make this guy pull his weight by letting the project blow up because no one bails him out. Or go to the boss and say, "We'd be ready with the project, but John Doe hasn't finished his portion yet. Can you help?"

● Mr. Trouble: Don't ask him about his personal life or work problems unless you want to waste hours listening to him complain. If he corners you, say, "I have work to finish and don't have time to talk right now."

● The Office Spy: Confront this guy and ask him why he carries information about you and other workers to the boss. Ask, "What are you getting out of this?" Remember, though, this guy can be useful to you: Feed him information you want the boss to hear.

● The Bungler: If your boss doesn't care about incompetence, there's little you can do to change this guy. But if management cares, you might deal with him in a group setting, where others can see his work and there are discussions about how people are doing their jobs.

"Two simple words that make it easy to lose 20, 30, even 50 pounds or more ...and keep them off FOREVER!" —by Richard Simmons

BEVERLY HILLS—After working with tens of thousands of women struggling to lose weight, I've discovered a breakthrough that makes it easier than you'd ever imagine to lose 15, 25, even 50 pounds or more and keep them off for good. In fact, this breakthrough is so powerful, I'm using it to launch a whole new kind of weight-loss club.

I can sum up this breakthrough in just two words—Continuous Motivation.

Continuous Motivation has been the missing ingredient in every weight loss plan you've ever tried, even my own.

To illustrate the almost magical power you can harness with these two simple words, let me describe how you've tried to lose weight, and why it hasn't worked...

How often has this happened to you? You hear about a new weight-loss plan. You try it and you even lose weight. But then you lose interest. Your motivation falters. Before you know it, your pounds come winging back like homing pigeons. Am I right?

Actually, this is the yo-yo cycle familiar to anyone who's struggled with weight. But don't you see what's happening? Your weight loss has always been temporary because your weight-loss program and your motivation to stay with it have been temporary! If you want permanent weight loss, you need an effective weight-loss program that comes with lasting motivation built right into it! And this is what you're going to get in my new Never Give Up Club.

You Will ALWAYS Love Food—So Don't Fight It!

For a permanent problem, you need a permanent solution, right? You see, I suspect you're a lot like me. And I LOVE food. Heaven help me, I ALWAYS WILL! After all these years, food is still my biggest challenge! I love the taste of food, the smell, the feel of it in my mouth. (Hey, this is making me hungry!) I love food that's warm and yummy...food that's cool and refreshing ...food that's sweet...and especially food that's fried, salty and lip-smackin' good!

Now, this is never going to change, either for me or for you. We LOVE food! So let's get real. Hear me on this—the biggest will come when you face the fact that you will ALWAYS love food.

And the only way you have a prayer of getting slim and healthy is to stop battling this wonderful attraction we have for food and use it to your advantage.

That's right, use it to your advantage! That's the key! And it's why my techniques of Continuous Motivation are such a breakthrough. They let you "turn the tables" by embracing your love of food and harnessing it instead of fighting it!

As soon as you join my new Never Give Up Club, you're going to begin a permanent way of life that encourages you to enjoy food in ways you've never imagined. You'll discover how to indulge your love of food and unleash it as an incredibly powerful force to shed pounds and keep them off.

You'll learn why hunger is your worst enemy, and satisfaction your best friend. And you'll discover new and wonderful ways to feel so satisfied, you won't believe you're on a weight-loss program.

Now, to join my club, you don't have to get on a plane and fly out to Beverly Hills once a month. No, sir! I'm going to come to your house through the Club's monthly newsletter. So put on the tea kettle, honey, 'cause Richard's comin' over!

It will be just as if you're under my personal care. Through my monthly Club newsletter, I'll share all my techniques of Continuous Motivation, such as:

- My most effective strategies to get and stay motivated and lose weight faster.
- How to enjoy huge emotional payoffs from seeing daily weight loss.

- Secrets of the best fat-reducing spas.

Here's a great way to prevent AIDS:

BRING BACK THE CORSET!

I'm madder than a preacher at a strip show over all this hullabaloo about AIDS prevention!

The answer is simple, folks — bring back the old-fashioned snap-and-pull corsets that gals used to wear.

You didn't hear much about all these sex diseases in those days, by George.

That's because getting down to the basics of romance took hours — and that's only if you knew what you were doing when it came to unhitching one of those babies.

Teenage girls didn't have to say no if they were wearing one of those contraptions. It took a degree in engineering just to figure out which buckle did what and by that time you were already late getting the little lady home.

I learned the hard way about flipping the wrong hooks on those corsets when I used to come home wearing elastic welts from head to toe.

And did I ever get to first base? Nooooooo, sir. When a gal clinched one of these chastity belts, even Hulk Hogan couldn't bust her free.

Let's face it. I'm a bit of a prude when it comes to talking about sex, but this corset business is something I'm dead serious about.

I'll bet the rate of sex diseases would drop like a rock if those things made a comeback.

Let's teach sex classes in high school showing today's girls how to wear the old corsets — instead of how to use contraceptives.

How the hell are you going to get pregnant or catch AIDS when no one can get your clothes off?

And another thing. Those old corsets are ugly. So ugly, in fact, most guys hate to even look at 'em and will avoid any gal who wears one.

My plan is this: Let a girl wear one of the old-fashioned corsets until she gets married, and then she can wear anything she wants.

Hey, I'm no sexist. But when it comes to cleaning up the sex mess in America, young women are our only hope.

Either they squeeze into these late, great steel-and-elastic corsets once again or this country's going to hell in a handbasket.

Remember it this way folks:
A tasket, a tasket
A corset or a casket.

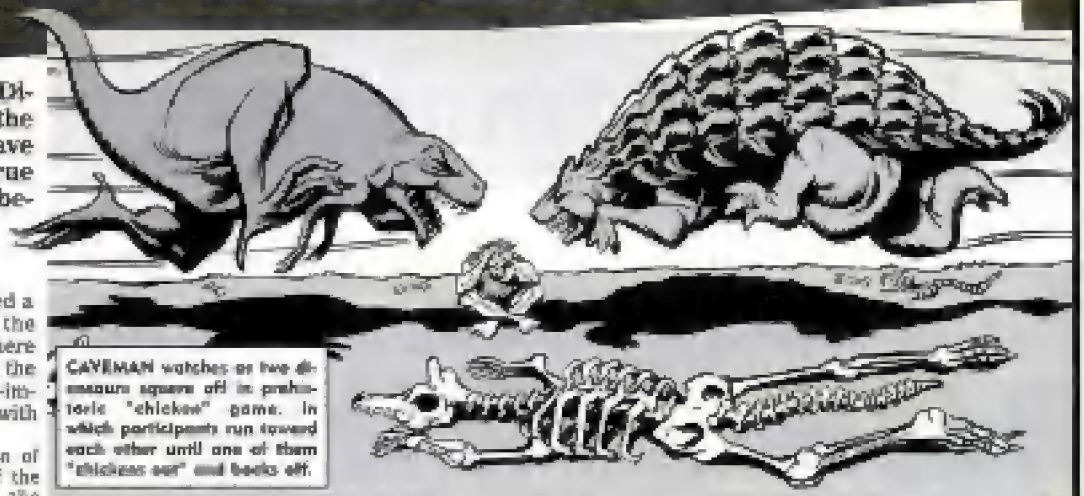
DINOSAURS WIPED THEMSELVES OUT — BY PLAYING 'CHICKEN'

By SUSAN JIMISON
Staff writer

PERTH, Australia — Dinosaur bones found in the Great Sandy Desert have revealed the shocking true reason why dinosaurs became extinct: They killed themselves off playing chicken!

Experts who have examined a dinosaur burial ground in the vast waterless region say there are unmistakable signs that the giant creatures died in high-impact collisions, most likely with other dinosaurs.

"By examining the condition of the skulls and the position of the bones, we have concluded the beasts ran at each other at high speed and smashed into each other with such force that their craniums were crushed to powder," said Dr. Annabelle Crocker, an American paleontologist working with a team of other scientists in the arid desert. "It sounds bizarre, but we can't deny the evidence.

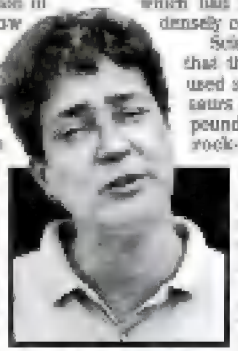


CAVEMAN watches as two dinosaurs square off in prehistoric "chicken" game, in which participants run toward each other until one of them "chickens out" and backs off.

Scientist: Giant beasts rammed each other into extinction!

"We don't know why the ancient reptiles became addicted to this type of activity. Perhaps they were mentally affected by changes in the environment, or perhaps it's a reflection of their extremely low brainpower."

Dr. Crocker was searching for a rare blood-sucking dinosaur called the vampirosaurus when she made the striking discovery in 1993. She and her assistants failed to find the rare reptile, but uncovered a 25-mile-square section of the desert where every inch was littered with dinosaur bones. Closer inspection showed that the vast majority of the skeletons belonged to animals killed by severe head injuries.



Dr. Annabelle Crocker

The remote tract also contained an odd geological formation much like a "roadway" approximately 10 miles long, a stretch of terrain which had been formed of densely compacted earth.

Scientists theorized that this was a track used so often by dinosaurs that it had been pounded smooth and rock-hard by their giant feet.

"We began to document skulls whose injuries exactly fit other skulls and drew the inescapable conclusion that they had all been crushed by smashing into one another at high speed," Dr. Crocker said.

"After we've found thousands of such 'fits,' we realized there was an unusual phenomenon here, an explanation for the deaths that was bizarre but conclusive. We now think that dinosaurs gathered in this spot to engage in some sort of contest, a test of strength or dominance that probably had a connection with mating.

"The ponderous beasts stood far apart and then rushed down the track toward each other, just like teenagers playing chicken in their hot rods.

"But we believe that many of these creatures were not agile enough to swerve at the last minute. This fatal flaw may well have led to the disappearance of the entire species."

Dr. Crocker's find has excited comment and interest among scientists all around the world.

"It's a dramatic new theory to explain dinosaur extinction," said one German paleontologist.

"A bit unusual, perhaps, but extremely fascinating nonetheless."

Schoolboy kills himself after shooting principal

REDLANDS, Calif. — A 13-year-old boy shattered the calm of his Catholic school when he walked in with a sawed-off shotgun, shot the principal in the face in front of other students, then turned the gun on himself.

Eighth-grade student John Sirola died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the chest after wounding principal Richard Facciolo of Sacred Heart School.

Cops say the boy had been sent to the principal earlier to discuss his disrespect for authority. They're not sure if the boy meant to kill himself or if it was an accident. "He was a young man having a real tough time growing up," said Rev. Howard Lincoln, spokesman for the Roman Catholic Archdio-

A top advertising agency gave 1,550 men and women a long list of careers and asked them which jobs would be their top choices.

For men, the leading seven occupations — and the percentage of guys who listed them among their dream jobs — were:

1. Head of your own business (38 percent).
2. Professional athlete (30 percent).
3. President of a large corporation (28 percent).
4. Forest ranger (27 percent).
5. Test pilot (25 percent).
6. Rancher (21 percent).
7. Race car driver (20 percent).

For women, the top seven choices were:

1. Head of your own business (47 percent).
2. Tour guide (30 percent).
3. Flight attendant (28 percent).
4. Novelist (27 percent).
5. Photographer (27 percent).
6. Fashion designer (26 percent).

In addition, 18 percent of men and 10 percent of women said they'd like to be a farmer, 14 percent of men and 6 percent of women would like to be a spy and 13 percent of men and 12 percent of women would love to be a movie star, researchers found.

Eight percent of men and 10 percent of women wanted to be a TV news anchorperson, 9 percent of both men and women wanted to be a surgeon, 3 percent of men and 2 percent of women said they'd like to be a circus performer.

Fisherman jailed for cruelty to worms!

MALMO, Sweden — Flabbergasted fisherman Arne Ostman was sentenced to six months in jail — after fanatical animal-rights activists accused him of cruelty to worms!

Unsuspecting Arne, 45, was convicted under a tough new law that makes it a crime to torture or torment any form of animal life, no matter how lowly.

"It's ridiculous," fumed the infuriated father of three. "I was fishing in a stream near my home when some animal-loving kooks came along, saw me putting worms on my hook and called the cops.

"I love animals, too. But to spend six months in jail for hurting a worm — that's going too far."

The reason there are so many June weddings is that it's hard to think in the heat.

MAN SHOOTS COMPUTERS AND HITS PAL BY MISTAKE . . . say cops

JAMES TOURVILLE in court, after allegedly shooting at his computers and sending a stray bullet into a friend's head.

By JACK ALEXANDER / Staff writer

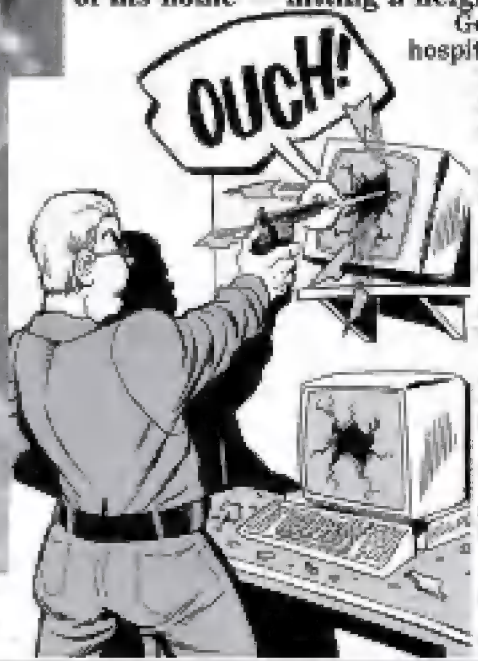
OXFORD, Mich. — Frustrated James Tourville riddled his two personal computers with bullets when they went haywire, cops say, and a stray shot ripped through the front door of his home — hitting a neighbor in the head!



Gordon McIntosh, 40, was rushed to a hospital for emergency brain surgery and Tourville, 41, was hustled off to the hoosegow, charged with reckless discharge of a firearm.

The two men and their wives had been partying earlier when Tourville and McIntosh decided to go for a ride in Tourville's van.

"The tie-rod broke on the van and they had to walk about three miles back to Tourville's house," Oxford Police Chief Ron Crichton said.

"Tourville was angry about the van and also was worried about rumors that the auto plant where he works might close."

As if that wasn't enough, a towel rack snapped off in his hands when he tried to clean up — and when he turned on his personal computers, they went on the blink.

Cops said Tourville grabbed his .357-caliber revolver and fired several shots at the computers.

McIntosh and his wife Luanne were standing on the front porch of Tourville's home when four bullets ripped through the front door.

One shot struck McIntosh in the head.

Several weeks later, he was still recuperating from the injury.

If convicted, Tourville could be sentenced to as many as four years in the slammer.

Boy finds note in bottle his dead dad wrote 20 years ago!

NEW ORLEANS — Almost 20 years ago a 13-year-old boy put a note in a soda bottle and tossed it into the sea — never dreaming that the note would one day give comfort to his own 13-year-old son!

On a sunny spring day in 1975, Robert Lewis, on a fishing trip with his father, wrote a message on a piece of paper, stuffed it in a bottle and threw it in a ship channel.

Lewis died recently in a car crash at the age of 33, leaving three children behind to grieve his loss.

But shortly afterward, a phone number had been long-since disconnected, but he was able to track down the family members and give them the note.

"There were tears in my it back after 20 years. I just felt Robert was so close to us."

Lewis' son, Robert, 13, was particularly comforted.

Family members said the note made him feel closer to

Monkey hurls coconut at man — and kills him!

FARMER Mat Hussin Sulaiman.

Cops charge animal with murder!

EYEWITNESSES confirm that this trained monkey threw the coconut that killed Mat Hussin Sulaiman.

GLOBAL NEWS SERVICE

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia — A pet monkey beaned a farmer with a four-pound coconut, killing the man instantly.

And in a move that is sending shockwaves through the legal community, authorities have jailed the animal on a charge of second-degree murder.

"Unusual? Of course it's unusual — but we feel the monkey knew what it was doing and that's murder by anybody's definition," Police Detective Chong Yuen told reporters.

"This monkey, and many others like it, are trained to climb palms, pick coconuts and drop them straight to the ground. But eyewitnesses said the monkey picked the coconut, looked around, spotted the farmer and intentionally threw the coconut at his head. The coconut cracked the farmer's skull wide open. It was a terrible sight to see."

According to police, Mat Hussin Sulaiman, 76, used a pair of trained monkeys to help him harvest coconuts on his farm west of Kuala Lumpur. Nobody knows why the young male monkey turned on the man. But people who know Sulaiman said he was "mean-spirited" and "beat his animals mercilessly."

Witnesses alerted police to the man's death. In turn, officers called on wildlife officials to capture the monkey, which has been held in a jail cell ever since. It's not clear when — or even if — the monkey will stand trial. Det. Yuen says a judge will most likely pass judgment based on eyewitness reports — and order the monkey killed.

If women are so smart, why do men rule the world?

Confidentials

Dear Curious in Murphy: If I were you I'd head way over — and kiss my butt goodbye!

Dear Puzzled in Pittsburgh: If that really is a flashlight in your wife's dresser, why doesn't it have a bulb?

Dear Humiliated in Long Beach: The next time the host takes you out to dinner don't break wind to show your appreciation!

Dear Angry in Washington: If I'm so stupid why do millions of people pay good money to read my column every week?

Dear Wondering in Minneapolis: I've said it before and I'll say it again, if a man hasn't married by the age of 40 he's either afraid of women — or gay!

Dear Aspiring in Memphis: I hate to tell you this, pinhead, but for every gal who slept their way to the top there are 10,000 who slept their way to the bottom!

Dear Dotti: Women are always calling men oafs and goons and never have anything nice to say about us at all. Well, I've got a question for you, Miss Smarty Pants.

If women are such hot stuff, why do they cook and clean for their masters — MEN? — Man in Boston

Dear Man: I can't speak for the so-called women in your life but I don't cook and clean for ANYBODY. The men I know wait on me hand and foot. And if you and I happened to wind up in the same room together, you'd shut your fat mouth and wait on me, too!

Screaming, crying rug rats ruined our big night out!

Dear Dotti: My husband and I went to a fancy restaurant last night and had the worst time ever. The problem was the couple who sat next to us with two screaming kids. Those brats whined and cried the whole time we were there and actually threw food at our table. I wanted to say something but my husband told me to be quiet. What would you have done? — Angry in Dickinson

Dear Angry: I would have screamed bloody murder on the spot, and if you had any guts, you would have done the same. People who can't control their children have no business taking them to restaurants. And if decent people like you and me don't tell them about it, they'll NEVER learn!

You're an old bag compared to that sexy psychic Serena!

Dear Dotti: In response to a recent letter you said: "Serena Sabak is a pretty gal but she can't hold a candle to me in the looks department — and she knows it!" How brazen can you get? You're an old bag compared to Serena and if you want me and America to believe otherwise, you'll publish a picture of yourself in a bikini! — Angry in Toronto

Dear Angry: Weekly World News published a sizzling picture of me in a bikini last year, bonehead, and all of my devoted readers got an eyeful. Lucky for you, I've just finished a red-hot photo session in my new bikini. Look for it in a future issue!

I'm seeing red over my boyfriend's X-rated video!

Dear Dotti: My best friend lured my boyfriend over to her house, got him in bed, secretly videotaped their lovemaking and then sent a copy of the tape to me. I'm beside myself over this, Dotti. How can I get my revenge? For the record, we are all 18 years old. — Desperate in Tupelo

Dear Desperate: If you really want to get back at those so-called "friends" of yours, send copies of that tape to their parents!

Do you have kids — or do you just pick on ours?

Dear Dotti: You always seem to have strong opinions about children and my friends and I were wondering — do you have any kids of your own? — Curious in Fairmont

Dear Curious: My personal life is none of your business, clod. And this case, as judges say, is closed!

Dotti will answer your letters — and tell it like it is. Just write to her, c/o Weekly World News, P.O. Box 883547, Dallas, Texas 75388.

Ask Serena

Is my wife having a lesbian love affair?

Dear Serena: I'm afraid my wife is cheating on me but not with another man — I think she's having an affair with a woman!

We've been happily married for seven years and she has always been kind of shy about sex. But lately she has taken a real interest in some of my Playboy magazines — even though she used to say they were disgusting. I didn't think anything of it until she started spending a lot of time with a new woman in town who one of my friends said is a lesbian. She'll never say what they do together and I'm afraid their relationship has become more than just a friendship. Am I being too suspicious or is my wife have a lesbian love affair? — Worried Husband in Hamilton

Dear Worried: Your wife is not having an affair with a woman — and I'm willing to bet your marriage. Your wife is not having an affair with a woman — but also wants to have girlfriends. It will be up to you to decide whether you two will remain married.

Dear Serena: I have an overwhelming feeling that one of my cats is the reincarnation of my best friend from high school. He died in a car wreck three years ago, about the same time I got the cat. My friend loved to play tennis and this cat spends all day playing with tennis balls. And the cat has really big, friendly eyes — just like my friend did. That's my cat was once my best friend. Am I right? — Pet Lover in Hamilton

Dear Pet Lover: Your cat is not a reincarnation of your friend. You have been thinking about your friend lately because he has been trying to contact you from the afterlife. Meditate about him when you go to bed and his message will become very clear.

Losing weight too quickly will give you gallstones

If you go on a diet and lose weight too quickly, you can get gallstones, new research reveals.

In a California study, 48 overweight patients were placed on a weight-loss program which included a 500-calorie-a-day diet, and they lost from 40 to 50 pounds within four months.

"We found that 20 to 25 percent of obese patients who rapidly lost weight developed gallstones," said Dr. Leslie Schoenfield, a gastroenterology expert. Most gallstones are made of cholesterol.

And during a period of rapid weight loss patients secrete increased amounts of cholesterol, which harden to form gallstones.

These painful pellets then have to be dissolved by drugs or removed through surgery.

"In our study we tested an experimental drug called ursodeoxycholic that dissolved gallstones. We found that the drug prevented gallstones from forming," added Dr. Schoenfield.

6 wacky facts about the wacky weed!

Most Americans think of marijuana as an evil weed that warps users' minds. But believe it or not, there's a good side to the cannabis hemp — or marijuana plant.

Here are just a few surprising facts about hemp from a new book called The Emperor Wears No Clothes by Jack Herer:

● The first copies of the Declaration of Independence were drafted on paper made from marijuana plant fibers.

● Hemp — the fibrous stem of the plant — was legal tender in America for nearly 200 years.

● George Washington and Thomas Jefferson grew crops of marijuana.

● Famed artists Rembrandt and Van Gogh painted on hemp canvases.

● Until the 1820s, 80 percent of America's textiles and fabrics for clothes, tents, rugs, bed sheets, towels, diapers, flags and other products were made from marijuana plant fibers.

● Hemp rope saved George Bush's life back in WW II when he bailed out of his burning plane. His parachute webbing was made from hemp.

So were all the rigging ropes and fire hoses on the ship that pulled him to safety.

RODER / Correspondent

DIEGO, Calif. — Supertough Sandy Fentorelli the $20 Million Woman — because that's how oney the bounty-hunting beauty has forced dads to cough up in back child support!

ravishing redhead may look like a sex kitten, but under- 's a tiger, her clients say. She scares the daylights out of quarry and has an amazing track record when it nes to getting her man.

"Nobody can hide from her," says one of scores high-priced attorneys who regularly hire 29- ear-old Sandy to track down child-support scofflaws. "She an find any man she wants to find and she uses every meth- od in the book.

"With some, she comes on like a vamp. With others, she's very businesslike and with still others, she plays the helpless female. And when she really wants to impress a guy, she can be a regular gun-toting tough. Whatever she has to do, she'll do it."

Sexy Sandy, a former parole officer, got her start in the bounty business back in 1988 when she tracked down her own "ex" and forced him to pay child support. It took her two months, but in the end, she collected $42,000 in back payments.

"I realized that if there was that much money to be made in forcing a guy to pay child support, there must be women out there who would pay me to find their former husbands, too," the mother of two explains. "So I contacted attorneys around town and hired myself out as a bounty hunter specializing in deadbeat dads and mounted a sexy "Rambo-style" ad campaign that got me a lot of customers.

"The client is the one who gets the back child support, and usually that is a lot of money. I just get a small percentage."

Private detectives and attorneys familiar with Sandy's work confirm that she's brought in hundreds of fugitive dads. Over the past seven years, she has been responsible for recouping exactly $20,033,568 in back payments.

"This gal is tops, the best in the business," said another attorney who admires the Rambo redhead's work. "And she's saving the taxpayer a bundle.

"Four out of every 10 women she's helped were surviving on welfare before she found their former husbands.

"Now, thanks to Sandy, the women are off welfare and their ex-husbands are supporting the kids."

DRESSED TO KILL — She always gets her man!

NESS: Bounty-hunting beauty Sandy has forced child-support scofflaws up over $20 million since 1988.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE: Dressed in a sexy "Rambo-style" outfit, the ravishing redhead mounted an ad campaign offering her services to other women and attorneys for a percentage of the money she recovered.

NEW STUDY REVEALS: Virgins recover from rape better!

Rape is easier on virgins than on gals who've been around, a top psychiatrist says.

That's because women who've never made love are less likely to be blamed by friends or relatives for the assault than more savvy women, according to psychiatrist Dr. Ellen Frank.

Dr. Frank has studied rape victims for the past 20 years.

She believes that rape victims' support network — family, friends and lovers — tend to be easy on virgins because their lack of control over the rape situation is taken for granted.

But sexually experienced women are more apt to be asked questions like, "What were you doing there anyway?" or "Why were you dressed like that?"

They are also sometimes told that in some way they must have been responsible, Dr. Frank says.

Research shows that if even one friend or relative gives a rape victim the sense that she is being blamed for what happened to her, the woman's recovery from her traumatic experience will be set back significantly.

The psychiatrist says that victims' reactions to rape haven't changed since the 1970s when she first began her in-depth interviews with rape victims.

"In fact, I don't think reactions have changed in 5,000 years," says Dr. Frank, who found all women suffered depression, fear, anxiety and loss of self-esteem.

"But in the past 10 years we've done a pretty good job of convincing the world when a woman is raped it's not her fault."

FIRST DEGREE MOO-DER!

BOGOTA, Colombia — It was moo-der in the first degree when a cow in a pasture near the town of Velez stepped on a discarded shotgun — and blew another cow's head off!

According to the cow's owner, the bovine suspect was walking near the victim when she accidentally stumbled over a loaded gun left in the field by a farm worker. The incident was the shooting of one farm animal by another, officials said.

WIGGED-OUT BIKERS!

FUN-LOVING REBELS James Gaynor and his girlfriend Jee-Ann Grissom flaunt their mop-top helmets.

By JOE BERGER / Staff writer

Tough-guy biker James "Jade" Gaynor and his girlfriend Jee-Ann Grissom figure motorcycle helmets are for sissies, but the law says they have to wear them — so Jade and his lady adorned their helmets with big, bushy wigs.

Hairy helmets have the cops scratching their heads!

That way, these well-tressed rebels of the road can abide by the law — and nobody will ever have to know!

And the Salinas, Calif., cyclists are just two of hundreds of easy riders across the country who've added hair to their headgear so they can fly down the highway with their locks blowing in the breeze without getting busted.

"Those helmets can make even the smoothest dude look like a total dufus, you know," said free-wheeling Jee-Ann, 31.

"This way, at least, the whole world doesn't have to know that you're wimping out.

"We get stopped by the cops at least three times a week, but once we whip the hair off and show them we are wearing a helmet, they just smile and let us go."

The hairy helmet's become such a popular accessory for cyclists that California Harley-Davidson devotee Steve Lartmore is doing a Wig-Out Kits by mail. The biker businessman offers 12 different hairstyles for gals and guys — including wigs that can make you the spitting image of Dolly Parton or Willie Nelson.

ARIES
Mar. 21 – Apr. 19

You'll come through in a sticky situation this week where decisiveness and quick action is necessary and timidness is a disadvantage.

Your energy level is high, but don't spin your wheels. List things that need to be done and take on each chore one at a time.

With your responsibilities taken care of, the weekend spells fun. Do something exciting.

TAURUS
Apr. 20 – May 20

Take advantage of opportunities for advancement this week. Money and happiness are won with the right decisions.

Excitement at home is welcome. Folks are cheerful and ready to go out and have fun. Even doing humdrum chores seems like play thanks to the happy atmosphere.

Dreams suddenly seem crammed with meaning for your life.

GEMINI
May 21 – June 20

Cheerfulness may pay off in big dividends this week.

A friend may try to lean on you, but don't allow yourself to be manipulated. Give support, if necessary, but be very careful.

Check your personal budget this week and find out if there are corners you can cut financially. A dollar saved here and there may pay for that trip you've dreamed of.

CANCER
June 21 – July 22

Set time aside for yourself this week and relax, take in a movie or call a friend. You deserve a little space.

You're prone to be too sensitive about what other people say to you. It is a fault that can tie your stomach in knots unless you work on it.

You have talents and abilities that aren't being used. It's high time you did something about that. You never know what you can do until you try.

LEO
July 23 – Aug. 22

You have a fantastic eye for detail and a genius for dealing with people. Both talents could pay off in spades this week — if you use them wisely. Laziness is all that stands between you and the life you've dreamed of.

Get off your butt and into action.

A tale of the supernatural could prove real. Don't scoff at things you don't understand. Stay close to home late in the week.

VIRGO
Aug. 23 – Sept. 22

Watch out! Your trusting nature could get you in trouble this week. Put faith in family and close friends, but keep a sharp eye on others. Don't take suggestions and proposals at face value. Check them out carefully. Let big decisions simmer awhile.

A relative has some very good news. Expect a letter or phone call.

Something small and blue holds the key to riches.

LIBRA
Sept. 23 – Oct. 22

Your luck may improve dramatically this week, and you need to be prepared to take advantage of your coming good fortune. Don't be afraid to take risks. You can't lose.

Indecisiveness could spell trouble when it comes to travel plans in the near future. Rely on advice from one you trust to make the right move.

Tempers may flare over a difference of opinion. Try to be agreeable.

SCORPIO
Oct. 23 – Nov. 21

Look before you leap if an unusual money-making scheme comes your way this week. If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is.

Being moody could have a negative effect on others around you. Make an effort to keep yourself on an even keel for everyone's sake.

Chores may be piling up, but relax. Put your feet up and make a list of everything that needs to be done.

SAGITTARIUS
Nov. 22 – Dec. 21

Use this week to work on goals you set for the year ahead. Save some time for friends and family.

Very soon now, you may have to confront a nagging financial problem. Long-term planning will help you get your books in a row. Do it!

Don't let your desire for tranquility blur your perception that all is not well. You have the ability to find solutions to pesky problems.

CAPRICORN
Dec. 22 – Jan. 19

You'll be the belle of the ball this week. Go all out to have a good time — just don't let the popularity go to your head!

Children can bring you much joy now if you set aside time to spend with them. Youngsters belonging to friends are especially attracted to you at this time.

Love is in the air. Singles may find themselves in a new romance.

AQUARIUS
Jan. 20 – Feb. 18

Everything is falling into place this week! Something really terrific sure looks to be headed your way. And isn't it about time?

Take the time to sit down and make plans for the year ahead. Think of a few things you've always wanted to do but never got around to doing.

A new and exciting relationship is definitely in the cards for you in the not too distant future.

PISCES
Feb. 19 – Mar. 20

A family spat could turn into full-scale war this week if you don't calm things down. The key word is compromise — just don't give too much.

The opposite sex finds you extremely attractive and will likely make a play for your affection. Behaving conservatively in social settings will serve you well.

Don't try to cram too many festivities into too little time this weekend.

If your birthday is this week...

Mon., Mar. 13 – Sun., Mar. 19

There won't be time for one more in the year to wonder. This year will be busy, busy, busy and upbeat. Your love life will be better than ever too.

The only cloud on your horizon is part of the year if you don't take immediate steps to improve your physical condition. Plenty of rest, a healthier diet and some R&R to relieve stress are called for.

MEAN PEOPLE GET EVEN MEANER BEHIND THE WHEEL!

The meanest of men can become even meaner — and timid men can turn into wild "kamikaze" drivers — when they get behind the wheel of a car, a top psychologist reports.

"People undergo personality changes by virtue of being behind the wheel," says Dr. Peter Collett.

"Being in a car gives drivers a sense of security and power — and they become offended by minor infractions that wouldn't normally upset them.

"If someone bumps into you on the sidewalk, you might smile and say, 'Excuse me.' But if someone comes even slightly close to you when driving, you get irate. Timid individuals become kamikazes and terrorists, chasing fellows bigger than themselves whom they would not dare approach on the street."

The end result can be disaster — quarrels on the highway have led to violent fistfights, destruction of cars' windshields and radio aerials and even shootings, said Dr. Collett, coauthor of the book Driving Passion — the Psychology of the Car.

Why do people become so angry when other drivers get close to their cars? Because we regard our vehicles as "special territory, a home on wheels," Dr. Collett explained.

When the territory of the automobile is invaded, or when some other car tries symbolically to dominate it, the personal threat can evoke almost primitive reactions in even the meekest of motorists, he said.

"By and large, women express much less aggression on the road — but as social roles change they, too, are showing their capacity for hostility."

Roadside sign: Drive as if your family were in the other car.

Company's 'special formula' was the only thing that kept him alive, says mom!

GERBER BOY DEAD AT 20!

By DENISE HARLESS / Correspondent

LOVING mother Carol Dunn cared for her son Raymond Jr. until the day he died.

YANKEE LAKE, N.Y. — The Gerber Boy — a severely retarded young man who warmed the hearts of millions and taught the world how strong the human spirit can be — has died at 20.

Raymond Dunn Jr. got his unusual nickname because the only food on Earth that he could eat without suffering a horrifying allergic reaction was a brownish liquid baby food made by Gerber called MBF, for meat-based formula.

Lagging sales caused Gerber to take MBF off the market in 1985 when Raymond was 10, so the boy's mother Carol quickly stockpiled all the MBF she could find.

But as the years went by and her supply ran low, she began to worry. She made a desperate call to Gerber, begging the company to make more MBF.

And incredibly, the big-hearted company agreed to start producing the formula just for Raymond — and to supply it to him free.

But it wasn't easy. To make the special food, Gerber had to reassemble old, outdated equipment that would take up thousands of square feet of company space. Sympathetic employees worked overtime, without pay, to churn out the lifesaving product. Gerber officials even had to get permission from bureaucrats in Washington to start making the food again.

GRATEFUL mom holds the life-giving special formula given to her by Gerber.

But, finally, after all the effort, Raymond had enough food to last him two years. Amazingly, the ailing youngster — who doctors once said would never live to be more than a year old — ate the entire supply. So Gerber went through the whole process again and cranked out another two-year supply.

When he died peacefully in bed last month, Raymond still had a year's supply of MBF on hand.

Mrs. Dunn and her husband Raymond Sr. devoted their lives to their son. He was born with a broken skull and was retarded because his brain had been deprived of oxygen. He could see only shadows, never weighed more than 38 pounds and barely had enough strength to hold his head up.

Raymond had to be fed seven times a day and have his teeth brushed after every feeding. He suffered up to two dozen seizures a day and slept only a couple of hours a night. Asthma made every breath a struggle.

A team of volunteers helped the boy, caressing him nearly every minute of the day.

But without the kindness

World Channel Surfing Championship

ON YOUR MARK! Get set! Go! Contestants flip through TV channels with lightning speed.

Finalists use remote-controls to find any show — in record time!

By ALEX MORGAN
Correspondent

DALLAS, Texas — A nimble-fingered college student has snagged the $50,000 grand prize in a first-ever competition for couch potatoes — the World Channel Surfing Championships!

A remote-control manufacturer sponsored the bizarre event, which had contestants furiously flipping between TV channels for hours at a time. And after months of preliminary competition and a day-long final round, 22-year-old Brent Mulaski emerged as champion.

"Competitive channel surfing is far more than just jumping around between the stations," said the elated Atlantic City, N.J., man. "You need a keen memory, a mathematical mind and, of course, quick and strong fingers."

In channel surfing competition, the object is to tune in a complicated series of programs as quickly as possible.

Top-notch surfers must memorize the exact programming on dozens of TV stations and be able to find any show in a split second.

"Hitting a commercial can really set you back, just like when you channel surf every day on your own sofa," Mulaski said. "One of my opponents was way ahead in the final round but was thrown off by a string of commercials and never really got back on track."

More than 3,200 people competed in the preliminary rounds before Mulaski, Jon Terrenuse of Casper, Wyo., and Perry Wilbert of Athens, Ohio, advanced to the finals.

Terrenuse, who finished third last year, is expected to return to defend his title next year.

"This was a really first-class competition. We were put up in a fancy hotel and served great meals while we were here," Mulaski said.

"They even brought in a couple of great-looking babes in bikinis to cheer us on, which really helped break the tension."

Wilbert earned $15,000 for finishing second and Torrence got $7,500 for coming in third.

IN THE HEAT OF THE COMPETITION: Finalists Brent Mulaski, left,

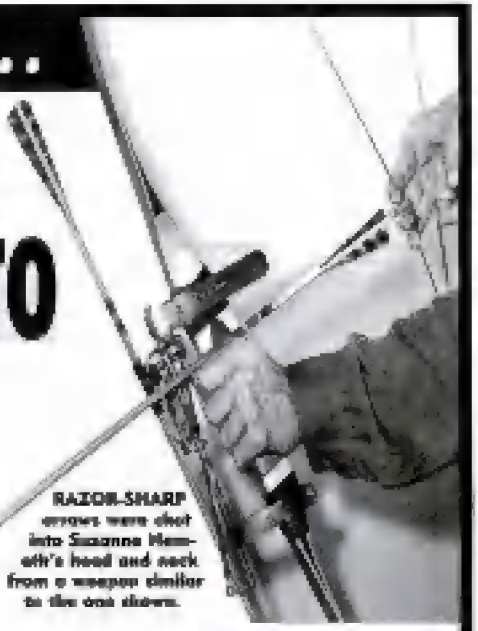
Stunned cops say...

TEEN SHOOTS FIVE ARROWS INTO MOM'S HEAD — WITH A CROSSBOW

HANDCUFFED TEEN Brian Nemeth smiles just after cops say he killed his mom.



RAZOR-SHARP arrows were shot into Suzanne Nemeth's head and neck from a weapon similar to the one shown.

MOM Suzanne was killed by her son Brian because she set a 10 p.m. curfew for the teen, say police.

...because she wanted him home by 10 p.m.!

By JACK ALEXANDER / Staff writer

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio — Sleeping mom Suzanne Nemeth died after being shot five times in the head and neck with razor-sharp arrows by her teenage son, cops said — because she slapped a 10 p.m. curfew on him.

"The arrows had powerful hunting-type tips that penetrated her skull from ear to ear. Four of them were imbedded in her head. Another arrow was stuck in her neck," said Prosecutor Stephen Stern.

Cops were called to the divorced woman's home by her 16-year-old son, Brian, who said calmly, "Send an ambulance. I've shot my mother," according to Stern.

He was standing in the doorway a few feet from his blood-splattered mom when deputies and paramedics arrived. "The boy was upset because he was dating a 13-year-old girl and his mother insisted he be home by 10 p.m. The night before the slaying Brian sneaked out after curfew to see his girlfriend and his mother brought him back home," the prosecutor explained.

"Brian waited until she fell asleep on the couch before he grabbed his crossbow and drilled the arrows into her head and neck from close range."

Mrs. Nemeth, 40, was rushed to a hospital but died two days later from the awesome wounds.

Because of his age, Brian is in a juvenile detention center charged with delinquency murder. Prosecutors have asked a judge to allow them to try him as an adult on the murder charge.

Protesting farmers launch live sheep at riot police!

PARIS — French animal rights activists are up in arms at farmers who held off a contingent of riot police — by bombarding the cops with live sheep!

Several thousand farmers drove hundreds of sheep through the capital city to protest declining wool and meat prices. And when riot police stepped in to break up the demonstration, the hopping-mad farmers began picking up their sheep and hurling them at lawmen.

Several sheep reportedly suffered minor injuries in the incident and seven policemen were hurt by the flying mutton on the hoof. The country's Animal Welfare Society has condemned the sheep-throwing incident.

Brokenhearted bachelor's Twilight Zone encounter

I met the girl of my dreams — and she's a ghost!

DUMBFOUNDED Lew Cordett holds the photo he took of Beth Grellus, the girl he thought he'd spend the rest of his life with.

By RANDY JEFFRIES / Correspondent

BUTTE, Mont. — Bachelor Lew Cordett thought he'd found the girl of his dreams — until he learned he'd fallen in love with a ghost!

Cordett has photos and a printed obituary that prove the woman he met in a small cafe just four months ago died in an auto accident almost 10 years before.

"It's heartbreaking and terrifying at the same time," says Cordett, 35. "I dated, kissed and proposed to the most wonderful woman I ever knew, only to see her return to the afterlife, leaving me to go on without her in this world."

Cordett's incredible story began last December when he stopped for coffee at a roadside cafe. He struck up a conversation with an attractive blonde sitting by herself in a booth.

"She told me her name was Beth Grellus," he says "and that she 'was just here for a little while.' I thought she meant she was only going to be in town for a few weeks."

Cordett asked if she could meet him there the following night and she agreed.

They had dinner and went for a drive in his car. "We stopped by a little fruit market and I snapped a picture of her," says the love-struck bank loan officer. The date went so well he asked her out the next night too and again they met at the cafe.

"I was sure she was the girl for me," says Cordett. "We talked for hours. We liked the same kind of music, the same books. But over and over again she told me not to get too serious.

"But I was head over heels in love, and on our third date I asked her to marry me. Immediately I felt the spell between us break. She looked at me sadly, touched my hand, got up and walked out.

"I've never seen her since."

Cordett searched for Beth for two months without success. He had almost given up when he showed the photo he'd taken at the market to an older couple who were regular customers at the cafe. They had been coming there for years.

"They looked stunned," Cordett said. "They told me they knew Beth and had seen her on the night she died — March 12, 1985.

GORGEOUS Beth Grellus is in a photograph taken just before

This woman died in 1985 — and her picture shows she hasn't aged a day since then!

that evening and was killed in a car wreck on her way home."

Naturally, Cordett doubted the story and decided to check it out himself. At the library he dug out an old newspaper and learned the tragic truth when he found her obituary, along with a couple of stories on her tragic death.

The old couple even had a photograph of Beth, taken just days before her death. The clothes she was wearing were identical to what she'd worn on her dates with Cordett.

Dozens of people have come forward who remember seeing Beth with Cordett at the cafe this past December and report that they're just as stunned as he is to find out that she died in 1985.

"I'll never forget her," he says. "She was such a great listener. I would talk for hours as she sat there watching me with her eyes aglow.

"I realize now I should have talked less and listened more. Maybe I could have walked away before I fell hopelessly in love with a woman I can never have — in this life."

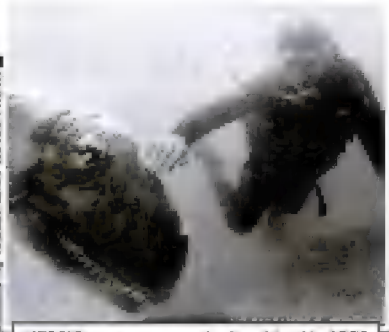
Legendary creature perishes



NESSIE gets a pat on the head in this 1991 photo taken shortly after her capture.

DYING Loch Ness Monster attracted a huge crowd, which could only stand by helplessly as the creature

MONSTER DIES!

in Scotland as hundreds watch

GLOBAL NEWS SERVICE

The Loch Ness Monster is dead!

That's the word from marine biologist Dr. Karl Cramer, who calls the demise of the beast "the tragedy of this century or any other."

And to prove that the monster really perished, the expert provided the press with heartbreaking photographs that show the 62-foot creature floundering on a beach in full view of witnesses in the hours before it died.

Dr. Karl Cramer.

Needless to say, the incident — which occurred last August — has become the focus of an unprecedented scientific cover-up.

But Dr. Cramer has come forward with the story because, in his words, "the public has a right to know."

The expert went on to say that Nessie was taken in a refrigerated truck to a research facility in Glasgow, where the carcass was dissected and will be studied for years to come.

"This truly is the end of an era," Dr. Cramer told reporters.

"The death of Nessie solves a mystery that has literally baffled the world since she was first sighted in the loch hundreds of years ago.

"The cause of death is unknown at this point. But it would appear that she suffered from an injury, an illness or the debilitating effects of pollution.

"Unable to navigate the depths of Loch Ness, this majestic creature beached herself and perished like a sick dolphin or whale."

Authorities declined to comment on Nessie's death, presumably to soften what will almost certainly be a negative impact on tourism at the famous Scottish lake.

Eyewitnesses aren't talking either — because, for the most part, their livelihoods depend on the tourists who visit Loch Ness.

What happens next is anybody's guess. But Dr. Cramer believes tourism officials will embark on a massive advertising campaign to promote Nessie's 3-year-old baby as an attraction.

The birth of "Dino-mite," as the baby has been called in the press, on March 31, 1992, made headlines the world over.

The story came on the heels of a dramatic series of reports that began when scientists led by the French zoologist Dr. Michael Genet captured Nessie in an enormous steel net on Dec. 22, 1991.

Under pressure from an outraged public, the scientists released the monster just hours before her baby was born.

In a stunning report, the experts concluded that Nessie, who was at least 1,600 years old, and her baby were "aquatic dinosaurs" with a direct genetic link to creatures that roamed the earth 65 million years ago.

"Nessie's death is a tragedy but we can take consolation in the fact that she left behind a baby to take her place," Dr.

NESSIE was first captured in 1991 by scientists who eventually freed the creature in response to a worldwide outcry against the captivity.

Blowing your top is GOOD for you!

By TOM STRAUSS / Correspondent

Ranting and raving can be good for you — even if you do it when you're all by yourself and there's no one else around.

"Blowing your top when you're alone or with someone who'll understand can help you release pent-up negative emotions and return to daily life feeling relieved," said psychologist Walter O'Connell. "The best thing about such an explosion is that you don't have to be logical or make sense. You can just unload your feelings in a burst of expression.

"Therapists worry about people who can't let out their anger. When it's buried, pent-up anger can finally burst forth into violent rages. But a good, healthy session of raving is a way to restore emotional stability.

"If you're going to let off steam, be careful about the place and people you're with. If you're fed up with your boss' attitude, don't rant and rave to a co-worker.

"It would be far better to go home and rant to an understanding spouse. You could even go home and rant and rave in the shower, or to an empty chair. You could pretend the person you're angry with is sitting right there in front of you. Rant and rave as you feel the need — waiting for the appropriate place and circumstances.

JACKPOT WINNER DISAPPEARS — LEAVING $10,000 BEHIND IN CASINO!

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Baffled casino officials are trying to figure out who hit a whopping $10,000 slot machine jackpot — then walked away without claiming the prize!

Phil Saluter, spokesman for the Argosy Riverside Casino cruise boat, explained that when a big payoff is hit, coins don't roll out of the machine. Instead, loud bells go off and bright lights flash.

Most people jump for joy and run to collect the big bucks. But one mystery gambler just ambled away, leaving the money behind.

"I can't begin to imagine why," said Saluter.

Casino officials are using security video images to try to track the winner down.

Heartbroken couple tried for 10 years to have a child!

HUBBY GIVES PREGNANT WIFE LOVING HUG — & KILLS UNBORN BABY!

By BEATRICE DEXTER / Correspondent

LOS ANGELES — Happy father-to-be Chris Fischmender gave his pregnant wife a loving hug — and killed the baby in her womb!

Lucy Fischmender, 28, was rushed to the hospital on January 29 after she began to miscarry and despite the efforts of doctors she lost the couple's 4-month-old fetus.

"I wouldn't want this to happen to my worst enemy," said Fischmender, 31, in a medical journal article on the rare incident. "What was meant to be a loving gesture turned out to be murder. I don't know what to say to my wife. I've killed the baby we've waited 10 years to have."

HEARTBROKEN Lucy and Chris had even prepared a nursery.

The couple had suffered a decade of heartbreak and frustration trying to have a baby. Last year they finally resorted to in vitro fertilization — and to their great joy, they soon discovered they were expecting!

Mrs. Fischmender quit her job so that she could rest during her dream pregnancy. She began preparing for the happy event by fixing up a nursery and buying baby clothes. The parents-to-be even opened a special savings account to build up a college fund for their child.

"We were so happy," Fischmender recalled. "After all those years, we couldn't believe our luck. We were finally going to have the child we wanted so much.

"We woke up one Sunday morning and had a beautiful breakfast in bed. I was so happy I sort of spontaneously turned to Lucy and gave her a big, affectionate hug. Seconds later, she doubled over in pain and we knew right away something was terribly wrong."

Fischmender says he rushed his frightened wife to the hospital and by the time they got there she was bleeding badly.

Doctors fought to save their baby, but after two hours they told the couple they had failed. The child of their dreams had died.

Mrs. Fischmender was hospitalized for several days and is now undergoing psychiatric treatment to help her deal with her depression and grief.

But although he's not undergoing treatment, her husband is suffering just as much as she is. "We're both shattered by this," the grieving man said.

"We can't afford to try again. We've lost our dream baby — all because of an innocent hug."

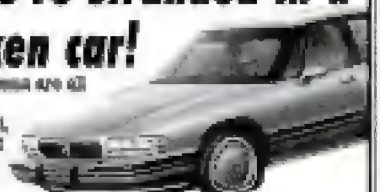
Innocent gesture turns tragic for dad & mom-to-be!

TRAGEDY! Lucy and hubby Chris Fischmender wanted a baby more than anything in the world, but had their dream dashed by a ghastly accident.

Here's what to do if you're stranded in a broken car!

Having a car break down with an empty tank, flat tire or dead battery can be a worrisome experience. But these tips from the Shell Motorist Club and the Texas Department of Public Safety can help you take care of the situation quickly with a minimum of risk.

● Use distress signals to attract police or emergency vehicles. Flares, warning triangles, the door handle or antenna are all useful.



● If you can avoid it, don't stop your disabled vehicle in a traffic lane.

● Stay inside your car until help arrives.

● Carry emergency phone numbers with you.

● If someone stops and offers to ask them to phone one of your emergency numbers.

● Keep your vehicle with a

TODDLER WINS ALL THE ICE CREAM HE CAN EAT — FOR THE REST OF HIS LIFE!

A PRIZE-WINNING ESSAY earned Taylor Caldwell a lifetime supply of Ben & Jerry's ice cream.

By SUSAN JIMISON / Staff writer

Call him super scooper!

SANTA CLARITA, Calif. — Three-year-old Taylor Caldwell likes ice cream and it's a good thing — because the lucky little boy has won a lifetime supply of the stuff!

The toddler's parents entered him in an essay contest sponsored by Ben & Jerry's Homemade Inc., and he won second prize: 150 coupons a year good for free pints of ice cream and an eat-all-you-want-free pass to the company's ice cream parlors.

First prize was the job of CEO for the company.

"What's an extra 10 pounds compared to a lifetime supply of ice cream?" said the blond-haired tyke's mother, Dawn, who lent a hand with Taylor's prize-winning essay. "We can handle it.

"Of course, a lot of people started calling us, wondering if relatives and friends were included. They're not. Just immediate family."

The "Yo! I want to be CEO!" contest ran with much fanfare in Vermont, where Ben & Jerry's is located and Taylor's Aunt Amy lives. She called his mom and dad, told the Caldwells about the contest and the family fired off an entry on Taylor's behalf.

They posed the chubby-cheeked boy next to a cow, snapped a photo and sent it off with the essay on the back.

"Help — I'm stuck with 'Mr and Mrs. Fast Track in California,'" the boy's message said. "They need new careers and I need a real backyard."

Taylor was awarded second prize by a committee of Ben & Jerry's employees — right behind Ben & Jerry's new CEO Robert Holland Jr.

And although his winning position doesn't give him any say in running the company, he's got a few ideas to pass along.

Taylor's suggestion for a new flavor of ice cream? "Dinosaur!"

His recipe? "Mix Gummi Bears with chocolate!"

BOREDOM CAN DRIVE YOU MAD!

GLOBAL NEWS SERVICE

Boredom can actually drive a sane person stark-raving mad, warn mental health experts in a surprising new medical study.

Chronic boredom often leads to anxiety, depression — even hallucinations and delusions, said nationally known psychiatrist Augustin de la Pena.

"If the brain becomes chronically bored, it can do a lot of things to rectify that boredom — and one of the things it can do is make itself sick," said Dr. de la Pena.

"Without adequate stimulus, people get drowsy and they fall asleep.

"But eventually they begin to feel anxious as the boredom continues, and they don't sleep too well. Then they become increasingly restless or do a lot of talking to themselves."

The next step is hallucinations — or the feeling that the person is the victim of some vicious plot, Dr. de la Pena explained. That's because the brain torments itself with hallucinations or delusions when it doesn't get enough stimulus.

"Boredom can also lead to insomnia or cause frustration and chronic fatigue," said Dr. Robert Heath, a respected mental health authority.

"It is definitely a serious health problem and affects countless millions of Americans.

"The most common causes are unfulfilled expectations, unchallenging jobs and physical inactivity."

DRAGON

It'll be a year of adventures for you in every aspect of your life. Accept that unexpected job offer. Take on new challenges. Take risks. Go on a trip to a romantic destination, ride a speeding sports car, live a little! Share this exciting period with your ideal love partner, a Monkey or a Rat. You have the charm to win the one you want. As far as your health goes, you can expect minor problems with your stomach or mouth.

SNAKE

Trusting others is difficult for the secretive Snake, but too much suspicion and jealousy in your love relationships could be damaging. Try to keep these feelings in check and search out a loyal Rooster or Ox to hang your heart on.

Your ability to attract others will keep you at the center of social events and help draw attention to your considerable talents at work. Time for a career decision? Consider psychology, teaching or the law — areas where Snakes excel.

Your health will be excellent in the Year of the Pig, but you may experience some arthritic twinges now and again.

HORSE

on others and can attract scores of admirers and friends if you wish. Enjoy their company as you engage in favorite Horse pastimes like traveling and gardening.

Where love is concerned, as usual you are going to lead with your heart instead of your head. Your best bets are the Dog or the Tiger in this important aspect of your life.

Look for work that involves travel and independence and watch your health. Stomach upsets will be a real problem.

GOAT

You need to schedule some time alone this year. You've had too much of socializing and difficult relationships. You need to spend peaceful, relaxing time with loving friends. Use this quiet year to indulge your artistic tendencies by taking up painting or acting or writing.

You may want to seriously consider going it alone where work is concerned.

You hate office politics and you have the creativity and get-up-and-go to run your own business.

Maybe it's time to go out on your own. Your signs indicate you have a good chance of success!

Your ideal love partner is the Pig or the Rabbit, but be careful.

You have a need to feel emotionally secure and might be tempted to give your heart away just to be with someone.

MONKEY

What a great sense of humor you have, Monkey. It's what others depend on to stay cheerful and optimistic. Give yourself some important tasks on the home front this year and at work seek out challenges. You are especially good at jobs involving the unpredictable, so try stockbroking or even a career as an entertainer.

In love, behave yourself this year. Your ideal partner would be the Dragon or the Rat, but romance won't work out with anyone if you don't keep yourself in line. Don't fool around. And stop looking for weaknesses in your loved one.

Depression is your major health threat. If you find yourself getting moody, call a good friend and share your troubles.

ROOSTER

You've got a lot of pizzazz — flaunt it! You will make great new friends and accomplish im-considering a new line of work, look to the fashion industry, the beauty industry or even entertainment.

Love will blossom with an Ox or a Snake. Be gentle. You already have left a string of broken hearts behind you. Try to make this one work.

Your emotions will effect your health enormously this year. Try to stay on an even keel.

DOG

Your strength and sense of responsibility make others lean on you. But you tend to worry too much about things and shoulder too great a burden for others. Don't let the weight of responsibilities aggravate your tendency to headache and hypertension.

A long-lasting and intimate relationship with your ideal Horse or Tiger lover would help ease pressure and give you the lift you need to meet life's challenges. Avoid that tendency to feel jealous and possessive.

In work, make sure you feel personally committed to what you're doing. If your present career doesn't satis-
